

SPEAKERS PROFILE

LLOYD REEB

Lloyd Reeb was a successful real estate developer and owner of luxury senior housing facilities in 1993 when his idea of success changed dramatically and his life's focus shifted to second-half significance. He spends most of his time now speaking and leading workshops around the world, moderating Halftime Institutes—and coaching men and women through the Halftime journey. He also leads the Halftime Couples Institute, along with his wife, Linda.

Lloyd is the author of The Second Half: Real Stories, Real Adventures, Real Significance, a coffee table book packed with stories of people making a difference in their second half. His first book, From Success to Significance: When the Pursuit of Success Isn't Enough, is a roadmap for mid-life transition. He co-authored Unlimited Partnership: Igniting a Marketplace Leader's Journey to Significance, a guide to partnering with non-profit leaders. Lloyd's Small Group Curriculum is written to people who are not financially independent but want to emphasize significance in the second half of their lives. His latest book is Halftime for Couples.

Lloyd and Linda live in Charlotte, North Carolina, and have three adult children.

DAVID WONG

LIM KIM PONG

Kim Pong is a banker turned entrepreneur for the last 23 years. It was at a Halftime Summit in Singapore where he discovered the language to articulate and crystallize his second half calling.

Today, he is the founder-owner of StrengthsAsia and The Invisible Company that have thriving platforms working with leaders, individuals and organizations in strengths-based thinking, living, and performance. The Gallup Organization in Singapore described him as among Asia's most accomplished practitioner of strengths-based development and talent management. Kim Pong is one of the core leaders of Halftime Asia and has been passionately living out his second half calling as a Halftime Speaker and Coach in Asia. He absolutely loves getting people to realize that the very best of who they are, is the source of the very best that they can be.

Kim Pong is married to Choon in 1990 with four beautiful children, and lives in sunny Singapore.
